4. Institutional responsibilities

- Research: The Centre for Primary Health Care provides an essential link between medical research and general practice. The research interests relate to how best to provide primary health care aiming at optimising the core values of general practice such as first contact care, generalism, continuity and coordination of care. The Centre for Primary Health Care has expertise in patient-centred outcome research focusing on common conditions managed in primary care.
- Teaching: AZ is responsible for teaching "Hausarztmedizin" during the whole pregraduate education ("Ausbildung") of medical students at the University of Basel (Bachelor and Master). He is also responsible for the coaching of junior doctors during their education aiming at becoming general practitioner (postgraduate education, "Weiterbildung", Curriculum Hausarmmedizin Nordwestschweiz).
